

Contract Work

In these times of unstable oil and gas prices it can be difficult to maintain a staff capable of handling everything. In situations where additional engineering help is needed, it can be difficult to find competent personnel. It is also time consuming to search for help as it takes away from normal duties that require your attention.

Aeon Petroleum Consultants is a registered professional engineering firm. We have the experience your company can rely upon to fill in those gaps that result from increased activity. We can work remotely or at your location. We are available to handle the following:

- o Internal reserve and resource estimates
- o Develop and maintain economic models
- o Review properties for acquisition or divestment
- o Prepare and update database information
- o Prepare development plans
- o Review and optimize production
- o Review and optimize operating costs
- o Prepare drilling permits

If your company requires additional petroleum engineering staff, please contact Aeon Petroleum Consultants. Our terms and rates are negotiable.
